FOR THE RIVERS AND HARBORS

Waterways Advocates Seek Liberal Appropriation.

WANT $50,000,000 THIS YEAR

Senator-elect From Louisiana Hopes to Have the Measure Passed by the Christmas Holidays — Rivers and Harbors Congress to Meet at Washington Coincident With Opening of Congress.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Representative Joseph E. Ransdell senator-elect from Louisiana and president of the national rivers and harbors congress, issued the following statement:

"We hope that congress will make the most liberal annual appropriation for rivers and harbors this year that has ever been made. The needs of the country are so pressing that I shall urge that the appropriations shall not be less than $50,000,000, and we hope to have the river and harbor bill passed by the Christmas holidays."

This announcement by Mr. Ransdell is expected to bring out further strong support for a big appropriation bill this year. The rivers and harbors congress will meet here next week, coincident with the opening of congress, and, backed by favorable planks in the Democratic and Republican platforms, an effort will be made to induce the Democratic house of representatives to be unusually liberal with its appropriations for public works.

Meantime, committee staffs were working at the capitol on the preliminary draft of the rivers and harbors and public buildings appropriation bills. Representative Sheppard of Texas, now senator-elect, chairman of the house committee on public buildings, said that his omnibus measure probably would be completed in the house in January, carrying more than $20,000,000, and that the senate was likely to pass it with several million dollars added. The house public buildings committee will meet late next week to begin framing the bill. The house committee on rivers and harbors will meet probably Saturday to begin its work. The rivers and harbors bill aggregated $41,000,000 in 1910, $24,000,000 in 1911 and $31,000,000 last year, and it was suggested by several members of the house that the committees should strike an average of $32,000,000 for this year.

Photos copyright, 1912, by American Press Association.

THIS is Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the president, with the happiest of Taft smiles—and shortly after election too. She was snapped aboard the steamer Zacapa just before sailing with Secretary of War and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson for a tour of the Panama canal zone. Mr. and Mrs. Stimson were caught in pleasant mood at the same time.

GOVERNOR-ELECT COX

Inaugural Ball Open For All or None, His Idea of It.

"Jimmie" Cox On Inaugural Under New Regime

Dayton, O., Nov. 29.—In an interview in this city, Governor-elect Cox declared he would rather see the proposed inaugural ball abandoned than to have the invitation list limited to Columbus people and state officials. He said he recognized that the function was a courtesy on the part of the Columbus chamber of commerce, but thought it was part of the inaugural day's program and that unless other communities besides Columbus could be recognized, under safeguarded properties, he would prefer that no ball be held.

Governor-elect Cox said: "I regret that any controversy has arisen with reference to the inaugural ball. It is recognized as a state affair, a part of the inauguration day in fact, and for that reason there should not be an invitation list limited to Columbus or to state officials."

Col. Ransdell Answer Final Call of Roll By Grim Reaper

Sergeant-at-Arms of the United States Senate Is Dead.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Colonel Daniel M. Ransdell, sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate, former United States marshal for the District of Columbia and an intimate friend of the late President Harrison, died as the result of an operation performed Nov. 7.

Colonel Ransdell was one of the well-known figures of public life. He had been sergeant-at-arms of the senate for nearly 12 years, having been elected to the post in January, 1900. As such an officer he had practically complete charge of all official senate affairs, the issuing of subpoenas in senate inquiries and the conduct of senate functions. He was 70 years old and a native of Indianapolis, where his body will be buried.

In the tenth Ritchie rallied and hammered Wolgast around the head. The round ended with honors in his favor. Ritchie came up in the eleventh round, as he seemed to reach the champion easily. The twelfth was even, Ritchie meeting the champion pluckily and swapping strong punches. In the thirteenth Wolgast began with wild blows, but steadied. Ritchie, however, held his ground. The fourteenth was a shade in favor of Wolgast, and he nearly closed Ritchie's good eye. Ritchie came up strong in the fifteenth and astonished the crowd by outpointing the champion. In the sixteenth round, Ritchie was victorious.

CHAMP LOSES FIGHT ON FOUL

Willie Ritchie the World's New Lightweight Champion.

RATTLING BOUT ON THE COAST

Former Champion Had the Best of the Go Until the Fatal Sixteenth Round, When He Goes Twice to the Floor and Retaliates by Handing His Plucky Adversary Two Blows Below the Belt.

San Francisco, Nov. 29.—Through a dense cloud of fog at Daly City a wildly excited throng of fight fans carried from the roped arena their first pugilistic lightweight champion. Willie Ritchie was hoisted on the shoulders of his supporters, and his victory was so unexpected that 7,000 spectators made the hills echo with their exultations.

With the sixteenth round having only two seconds to go, Champion Wolgast fouled Ritchie and the referee was quick to raise the local lad's glove in token of victory. The disqualification came after Ritchie had floored Wolgast twice. Whether the foul was intentional or not was the theme of discussion among thousands as they left the arena. There was no question, however, about the foul. The fact is Wolgast delivered two low left-hand punches to Ritchie's groin, and the action of the referee was the only course to pursue. Tom Jones, Wolgast's manager, was angered at the decision and declared it was the rankest robbery.

Billy Nolan, Ritchie's manager, claimed that the champion deliberately fouled when he was stung by Ritchie and took this course to save himself from a knockout.

Referee Griffin made the following statement: "I was right on top of the men and saw Wolgast strike out with his left and it went low. Ritchie was hurt, and in a flash Wolgast swung with his left and it also went below the belt. As Ritchie sank to the floor in pain, there was nothing else for me to do but award the bout to Ritchie."

Wolgast All to the Good.

Wolgast had the best of the fight up to the critical sixteenth round. In the third round he nearly knocked Ritchie, the new champion, through the ropes with a right to the jaw. In the eighth Wolgast, after putting the right and left to the jaw, nearly closed Ritchie's right eye with a stiff punch. In the next two rounds Wolgast had things all his own way. In the ninth Ritchie's eye was closed and he received heavy body punishment. Ritchie fought gamely, but he could do little.

In the tenth Ritchie rallied and hammered Wolgast around the head. The round ended with honors in his favor. Ritchie came up in the eleventh round, as he seemed to reach the champion easily. The twelfth was even, Ritchie meeting the champion pluckily and swapping strong punches. In the thirteenth Wolgast began with wild blows, but steadied. Ritchie, however, held his ground. The fourteenth was a shade in favor of Wolgast, and he nearly closed Ritchie's good eye. Ritchie came up strong in the fifteenth and astonished the crowd by outpointing the champion. In the sixteenth round, Ritchie was victorious.

OHIO STATESMAN AMONG VICTIMS

Scott of Cadiz Sustains Broken Leg In Pennsy Wreck.

FOUR OTHER BUCKEYES HURT

Careless Railroad Bridge Inspection Alleged by Police Surgeon to Have Been the Cause of the Death of Four Persons and the Injury of Fifty or More — Remarkable Experience of a Railroad Man.

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—Five Ohio persons, including Representative L. Scott of Cadiz, are listed among the 50 passengers hurt when the Cincinnati express train on the Pennsylvania railroad plunged over an embankment near Glen Loch. Four persons were killed. The government, state and county began investigations of the wreck.

Among the injured are the following Ohioans:

L. H. Scott, Cadiz, member Ohio senate; left leg fractured.

Elizabeth Sarode, Youngstown, cuts on face, contusions of hips.

Mrs. H. Mosco, Cleveland; leg fractured.

Mrs. William Dietrich, Cleveland.

William Dietrich, Cleveland. Careless railroad bridge inspection is declared to be the cause of the wreck.

This charge is made direct by Dr. H. R. Owens, chief police surgeon of Philadelphia, who was one of the first persons to arrive at the scene following the accident. Dr. Owens declares that he found that the abutments of the bridge had sunk 18 inches. They apparently had sunk just as the two monster locomotives pulling the train had got on the bridge. The assertion of Dr. Owens is not denied as yet by the Pennsylvania officials.

Numerous residents of New York and neighboring towns are among the victims of the wreck at Glen Loch.

Jones' Remarkable Story.

The most remarkable story of this accident is that of Alfred Read Jones, himself a railroad man in the employ of the New York Central lines. He was asleep in one of the steel Pullmans when the heavy cars left the track and toppled over the 30-foot embankment. Apparently he was unhurt, but the car had crushed in such a manner that he was in prison. He was dressed only in his night shirt. He knocked against the steel sides of his prison and attracted the attention of Doctors Wanamaker, Hill and Lubert, who had accompanied the first rescue train from Philadelphia.

It was 2 o'clock when they heard the knocking of Jones and it took some time to locate him. The three physicians were able to converse with Jones, who told them he was quite comfortable and told them to go on with their work of relieving others. They went on with their work of mercy, and after they had treated nearly every person needing assistance they returned to Jones. They had to saw through the steel car to get him out. It was 6 o'clock before the physicians had cut away enough of the car to get at Jones. Examination showed that his groin and legs are badly crushed, and it may be months before he gets home, if he ever does.

London, Nov. 29.—The Servians, ignoring the proclamation of Albanian independence, have occupied the port of Durazzo without resistance. This information comes in a direct dispatch from that town. Thus the conflict is now raised in acute form between Austria and Servia, and it remains to be seen whether the Austrian government will take any direct action or will be content to leave the question for the after-the-war settlement.

HENRY SPARKS' STORE VISITED BY BURGLARS WHO MAKE GOOD HAUL

Shotguns, Rifles, Revolvers, Razors and Pocketknives Are Among Missing Articles.

SMASHED DOOR GLASS AND TURNED THE KEY

Bold Thieves Walk Off With More Than $100 Worth of Goods and Leave No Clue Behind. Men Were Familiar With the Surroundings.

Some time Thursday night Henry Sparks' Hardware Store on West Court street was entered by burglars and over $100 worth of guns, cutlery and other articles were stolen, the burglars evidently taking their own time and making a thorough job of it, without leaving a clue behind that might lead to their apprehension.

Entrance was gained by smashing the glass in a rear door, and inserting the arm to the lock, where the key had been turned and allowed to remain in the lock. It was an easy matter to open the door when the glass was once broken. They had entered the small court back of the store by climbing through one of the windows in the Masonic Temple building.

The gun case and cutlery case was in the front part of the store, and the operations of the men were partly concealed by a screen in the window. The cutlery case was ransacked and more than a dozen Tory razors and a number of "Every Ready" razors were stolen, together with some 15 or 20 high priced pocket knives. None of the silverware was missing from the case.

From the gun case one $30 shot gun and two good rifles, one Winchester repeater worth $12 and the other a hammerless Remington repeater worth $14, were selected from among some cheaper weapons.

One 22 caliber H. & R. revolver and one 32 caliber H. & R. revolver were also taken. After selecting the guns the burglars then helped themselves to ammunition, breaking a number of boxes of shot gun shells and cartridges until they found the proper kind.

Mr. Sparks was in Columbus at the time of the theft, and the loss was not discovered until Friday morning when employees of the store found the door standing open and the cases rifled of goods worth $100 to $125.

Chief McCoy visited the store and took up the trail.

Safety Director Resigns His Post

Resignation of J. M. Willis is Handed to Mayor Smith on Wednesday Evening and is Accepted at Once.

Rumor has been current for some time that Safety Director J. M. Willis would resign his official position in the near future. While nothing to substantiate the rumor could be obtained from either Mr. Willis or Mayor Smith, still gossip would not allow the matter to drop and Mr. Willis' resignation on Wednesday evening which was promptly accepted came as no real surprise to the public. The Mayor and Mr. Willis seemed to be on the best of terms and held frequent conferences on official matters.

Just what occurred at these conferences, however, is a secret securely guarded by both the Mayor and Mr. Willis.

The assertion that there is absolutely no personal disagreement between the men is borne out by their manner, which is, to all outward indications, as friendly as it ever was. If the report that the Mayor and the former Safety Director disagreed as to the policy of the administration, is well founded, no proof of the fact can be gathered from either Mr. Willis' statement or that of the mayor.

Both men absolutely decline to announce any reason, and it is understood that no reason for his action was given by Mr. Willis in his written resignation.

The resignation of the Safety Director is the second important one in the Mayor's official family that of Service Director J. M. Baker preceded it by several months.

Mr. Willis' successor has not yet been announced by Mayor Smith.

TWO HOUSES DESTROYED EARLY THIS AFTERNOON

A passing freight train set fire to the residence of Joe Miller, on Walnut street in the southern part of town about 1:30 Friday afternoon, and the house, together with the residence occupied by Joe Miller adjoining, went up in smoke in a very short time.

The house, was doomed before the alarm was turned in, and when the fire department arrived both houses were burning furiously. As soon as a line of hose could be laid a small house owned by J. T. Oatneal, which had caught fire, was saved, and a portion of the walls of the other two residences.

Everything was destroyed in the Miller home, and most of the household goods of the Barker home was also burned. The house occupied by Miller belonged to Gus Siderly, of London, and the other residence was owned by Miss Corda McCafferty.

This is the third time Mr. Barker has been rendered homeless by fire during the past few years.

Entered as Second Class Matter, August 20, 1910, at the Postoffice at Washington D. C., Ohio, Under the Act of March 3d, 1879.

TELEPHONES—Home No. 137. Fell, Main No. 170.

KEEP IT UP.

It is to be hoped that the incoming national administration will take no backward step in the matter of reforms in the post office department.

The last congress and Postmaster General Hitchcock have not always worked in perfect harmony in their efforts to change the postal system of the nation from a persistently heavy loser to a plane where it will be at least self sustaining if not a revenue producer.

Perhaps no more radical step in the right direction has been taken, as yet, than that one looking to the enforcement of the recent enactment of the last congress requiring newspaper publishers to cut off the real dead heads.

To the legitimate publishers, if they will but look at it in the right light, the enforcement of this rule is a blessing. It will prevent building up a fake circulation and forbid them to extend credit when they are really not financially able to do so.

Newspaper publishers, many of them, throughout the land have become poor sending papers to people who will not pay. Legitimate publishers have been compelled to keep themselves impoverished and at the same time have contributed very largely to making the post office department of the government a loser, by sending through the mails, year after year, papers to people who do not pay. They have been compelled, or think they have, to pursue such a course, in order to meet the unfair competition of newspaper publishers who force a circulation in order to carry public printing.

The enforcement of the law, denying the mails, at the one cent a pound rate to any but paid up subscribers, or to those who have expressly renewed their subscriptions and compelling all other copies to be paid for at one cent an ounce, will cause many a newspaper with a forced circulation to go to the wall, but in doing so it will prove a blessing to legitimate publishers throughout the land.

There is no good reason why the circulation of the country newspaper should not be an asset instead of a liability to the owners of the paper and a source of income instead of a constant drain on the government.

Now since the newspapers and the magazines have received proper attention it would be well also to look into the abuse of the franking privilege.

Under the disguise of official business the mails are burdened with tons and tons of free matter sent through the mails at the expense of the people, by politicians desirous of perpetuating themselves in office—matter which has not the remotest connection with public business.

It has been clearly demonstrated by enormous losses in the post office department that "bona fide subscribers" is too indefinite a phrase entirely, for the government to receive the proper postal rates from publishers.

Likewise it has been just as clearly proven that "official business" must be defined more particularly before the government can stop the abuse of the franking privilege.

The first mentioned advanced position should not be receded from and the second mentioned advanced proposal should be followed up to its logical conclusion. No matter what may be said or what opinion may be held by people generally as to the present administration, it must be conceded that the post office department has been progressing.

Work which if done long ago would have saved the people millions of dollars annually, is now well under way and it should not be abandoned. There is no good reason for stopping a good work.

Muscular Work Reduces Brain Power

By S. S. Bradenlin, Ulfca, N. Y.

In reply to an article in "When to Read," it can be said that muscular work reduces the power of the brain. When the food is being digested the organs conducting this work need blood. The blood therefore leaves the brain and flows away to assist the stomach and intestines. If, nevertheless, the brain is put to hard reading, the blood will be drawn away to the brain. Poor digestion and difficult reading must certainly result. "You can't do good work by doing two things at once."

I tried an experiment once in order to prove this. Before departing on a bicycle ride one day I fastened a watch on the handle bars. At one time there was a clear road on a smooth boulevard. Taking advantage, I rode on at top speed, urging every muscle in my legs to its utmost and at the same time keeping my eyes fastened on the watch. What happened? I tried to read the time, but the letters dimmed before my eyes. The muscles in my legs required so much nourishment that the blood hurried there from the upper regions of my body.

Another case: I have attended high school and on occasions done considerable physical labor. Suppose that after a hard day's work, worn out with fatigue, I should have attempted to solve a problem in geometry or write an English essay. Do you suppose that my brain would respond? Hardly. A feeling of listlessness and a dull mind would have resulted.

At some gymnasium meets I have noted that the participants prepared their home work beforehand.

So, too, in regard to examinations. No pupil should think of studying the night before an "exam."

All famous athletes refrain from too much mental exercise.

Poetry For Today

KEEPING THE FAITH.

I've gotta b'lieve in Santa Clause,
An' that's just all there is to that!
I've gotta keep my faith because Down where we're now a-lyin' at
We are so poor. It costs so much
To buy the things we eat these days
We had to move. Dad says it's touch
An' go with what the fact'ry pays.

An' ma has turned her dress ag'in,
An' pa wears his last winter suit.
An' we buy our round steak cut thin
An' never have no nuts an' fruit.
An' when I said: "I want to git
A job an' help a little, too,"
Ma hugged me up an' cried a bit.
But pa said: "Nope; it's school for you."

"Well, then," I said, "I'll tell you
this,
An' ma thought I was gonna fuss,
An' tried to stop me with a kiss.
"You've got enough to do for us,
So, don't buy us no Christmas things."

An' I just sort o' clamped my jaws,
"For this year you have got, by Jings,
To leave all that to Santa Claus!"

I'm needin' skates an' need a sled—
I've got to have them, seems to me.
But last night, all tucked up in bed,
I got to thinkin' I would be
As cheerful if they didn't come;
Because, since we have moved away,
And Santa always misses some,
He might miss me on Christmas Day.

Kids say there ain't no Santa Claus,
But from now on I'll contradict
The kids that says it, an' because
I gotta b'lieve it, they'll git licked
If they don't hush. The more I do
Keep my faith strong through good an' bad,
A-b'leavin' Santa Claus is true
The more I'll be a-helpin' dad.

JUNGARIAN ESTATE OWNERS

Seldom Leaves His Big Estate—His Mediaeval Chateau.

I have before me the wages list belonging to a large estate in Hungary. It is quite typical. The doctor heads it. His duties are to look after births in the village and to mend a broken leg when necessary. He receives 400 kronen a year—about sixteen pounds in English money—and has the use of a cottage; but he also has eight measures of wheat as part salary, so many measures of oats and loads of maize and straw, so much hay and wurzel for his cow; and so on in a descending scale, down to the unskilled laborers, the women who help at threshing, the boys who mind the pigs at a living wage of about forty or fifty kronen a year—about two pounds—and so many sack of potatoes and maize. It is the mediaeval system of barter.

The Hungarian gentleman farmer is the most contented individual in the world in spite of because of the fact that he knows absolutely nothing of what is going on around him. He does, perhaps, read his newspapers which arrive daily from Budapest and has vague ideas that all Austrians are thieves and scoundrels, and that therefore a union with Austria must be fatal to Hungary, but as a matter of fact the political situation of his country does affect the richness of his wheat or the weight of his maize heads.

A keen sportsman, he is unhampered by any game laws. In Hungary no one is allowed to carry a gun unless he owns so much land, and the owner of land and therefore of game naturally makes his own laws for its preservation.

His chief characteristic is hospitality almost barbaric in its lavishness. His guests, his friends, his relatives all are welcome as long as there is room in the house. What matter to him if ox, sheep or calf has to be specially slaughtered to feed the gay multitude who come to visit him? He has plenty and to spare.

Of town and town life he knows nothing. Budapest is noisy and the automobiles are smelly. He prefers driving his magnificent horses in teams of four or five along the roads where right and left the rich fields belong to him.

There are at the present moment any number of high born Hungarian noblemen of ancient lineage and large estates who never from year's end to year's end go beyond the boundaries of their estates.—Baroness Orczy in Youth's Companion.

The Track of the Storm.

The following essay on "a thunderstorm" by a twelve-year-old author was given the Manchester Guardian for publication.

"The usual sign of a thunderstorm is the rapidly darkening sky. After a few seconds has elapsed a peal of thunder makes the very earth quiver, while the trees tremble and the houses shake. Another second and a flash of lightning vividly crosses the sky, lighting the whole earth for a moment, and then down gushes the rain till it touches the earth, and the wind rustles silently through the trees. Then ensues a struggle between water and the things that bar its rush down the mountainside. Houses and cattle and women and children are all swept away by its impetuous rush, leaving everything behind a desolate waste. Many lives are lost through a thunderstorm, and many silver and gold medals won by people who gallantly rescue other people at the risk of their own lives. When at last the turbulent torrent has stopped, leaving destruction everywhere, it little thinks of the damage it has done, and it is heart-rending to hear the cries of the little ones who have no home, no father and no mother."

After Eluding Big Posse Finally Taken On Street Car

Negro School Teacher Bandit Fears a Lynching Bee.

Cumberland Md., Nov. 29.—Angie Hardy, 25, the negro schoolteacher bandit, was arrested on a streetcar here after he had eluded posses since last Saturday. He expressed a willingness to return to Romney, W. Va., but fears lynching. He wants to wait in jail here until the feeling dies down. If the Hampshire county, W. Va., authorities insist on taking the negro, Governor Glasscock will be asked to order that he be confined in jail in another county.

"Angie" Hardy denies that he assaulted any of the four women of the Inskeep household. Mary Heath was beaten into insensibility by Angie's brother, French Hardy, before he was shot by Inskeep.

"Angie" Hardy and his brother, French Hardy, last Saturday attacked Lee Inskeep on his farm near Romney, and also Inskeep's wife and hired woman. Lee Inskeep was killed, but before he died he shot and killed French Hardy. The women were also badly beaten by the negroes.

PRIMITIVE ANIMALS RETURN.

Creatures of Which Kansans Thought They Were Rid Again Found.

Some time ago Kansas newspapers printed a line or two about the discovery of a white weasel at Oak Mills, adding that white weasels are extremely rare. Lewis and Clark, in 1804, in the journal of their famous expedition, speak of having procured from an Indian on the Missouri "a weasel which was perfectly white except the extremity of the tail, which was black." Perhaps this weasel was the progenitor of the Oak Mills animal. By the way, it seems that Kansas is coming back to its primitive condition again, especially as regards wild animals.

Many wild creatures that were thought to have long since disappeared from our soil are making their appearance again, says the Kansas City Journal. A little more than a year ago a parrot was killed on the Remsburg farm, east of Potter. Parrots swarmed in this locality in the early days.

Public Reception At Cherry Hill

Wednesday afternoon the handsome new Cherry Hill school building was thrown open in a public reception to the patrons of the school. In connection with the reception delightful Thanksgiving programs were presented in each room and followed by a "parents' meeting", addressed by Rev. Frederick E. Ross and Supt. McClain.

A large number took advantage of the opportunity to inspect the new building and were courteously shown through. Many found the building, with its beautiful terraced location, its handsome exterior and bright, attractive interior even more satisfactory than was expected.

The consensus of opinion was enthusiastic in admiration of the entire structure, especially in regard to the fireproof feature, the flood of light and heating arrangements.

Mr. B. F. Toops, principal of the building, had the arrangements in charge and was assisted by the Cherry Hill teachers, Mrs. Chas. Crooks, Mrs. Luellan and Miss Pauline Pine.

All the rooms were beautifully decorated with potted plants, cut flowers, flags and the art work of the pupils, exhibited under Miss Zinke, art teacher.

The programs were very attractive, including recitations, orations and music. Miss Sheen having the music in charge.

A distinctive feature of Mr. Toops' room is that his pupils are all boys. The boys gave an excellent program of speeches and essays. The entertainment throughout showed care of preparation throughout on the part of both teachers and pupils.

The school management was greatly indebted to Mr. J. A. Smalley for the donation of a piano for the use of the afternoon's entertainment.

AT THE EMPIRE

WEDNESDAY DEC. 4TH.

Harold Bell Wright, the author of "The Shepherd of the Hills", which comes to the Empire on Wednesday, December 4, is conceded to be the most popular American novelist. No modern author's books have had anything like the sale that has been accorded to Mr. Wright's works.

Nearly every one is familiar with the characters in "The Shepherd of the Hills." They are people out of the ordinary run of life, people whose veins, run good, rich, red blood. They do things in a natural, human way; they love and hate with deep passion.

In making a play of this novel, Mr. Wright, with the assistance of Elsbury W. Reynolds and Lem B. Parker, has retained all the dramatic moments of the story and enlarged upon the character of "Preachin' Bill," making a character of him that will be long remembered by theater-goers. Naturally the love between "Sammy Lane" and "Young Matt" is the pivot upon which the play revolves.

Messrs. Gaskill and MacVitty, the producers, have mounted the play in a sumptuous manner and given it a cast that promises to prove unique in the matter of types.

Many different forms of treatment did me no good, but last spring I took Vinol and now I am so much stronger and better that I want you to know it. I don't know when I have felt so well and vigorous as I have since taking Vinol."

LEECHES OF PALESTINE.

Menace to Health and Even Life—
Found at Pools and Springs.

Leeches are common in the springs and wells of Palestine, and especially so in Galilee and Lebanon. In 1907 they were so numerous during the summer and autumn months that nearly all the horses and mules suffered from bleeding at the mouth. In some places they were got rid of by placing fish in the springs.

The drinking water used in the house is generally harmless, owing to the practice of filtering the water through a piece of muslin, which is done by the water carriers in filling the pitchers. On the other hand the thirsty agricultural laborer is more exposed to the danger, especially when he drinks in the evening or during the night.

The leeches generally attach themselves inside the mouth, in the larynx and oesophagus, but Mr. Masterman is convinced they are killed as soon as they reach the stomach. At any rate no special symptoms have been remarked in the case of persons who have swallowed them entirely. When the leeches are very numerous, and Mr. Masterman observes as many as three dozen on the same person, they may be found in the nostrils and are especially frequent in the larynx.

The presence of the leeches is indicated by slight but persistent hemorrhages in the mouth and nose, their intensity varying naturally with the number of the parasites, and in certain cases they may bring about serious anaemia and even death.

When Mrs. Lysander John Appleton is in trouble she sends for her foolish friend. And after she has told of her troubles, and sighed holes in her straight-front corset, and soaked three or four handkerchiefs, the foolish friend makes a number of fool suggestions, not one of which is practical or of any use, after which Mrs. Appleton, having sighed and wept to the limit, cheers up. "You are So Helpful," she says to the foolish friend, and then looks around in her cupboard to give the foolish friend something to eat.

NELSON WAS GAME

Receives Terrific Punishment In His Bout With Leach Cross.

New York, Nov. 29.—Wonderful endurance while under a merciless attack enabled Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion of the world, to remain on his feet for 10 rounds in the scrap with Leach Cross of this city at the 44th Street Sporting club. Nelson lacked the old punch that won the title from the late Joe Gans, but he was as strong as an ox and as game as a lion. In spite of terrific punches on the point of the jaw, cutting jabs in the eyes, nose and mouth and painful smashes in the body, the Dane never showed the white feather.

Cross was the winner on blows landed, but the victory wasn't much of a feat, inasmuch as Cross is in his prime while the Battler is nothing more than a back number.

Joe Rivers Gets Decision.

Los Angeles, Nov. 29.—Joe Rivers of this city won a decision over Joe Mandot, New Orleans Frenchman, in a 20-round battle here, becoming the logical challenger for the lightweight championship of the world, won by Willie Ritchie. Rivers carried the battle to the Frenchman throughout and had his man worried from the start.

Motorcyclist Killed.

Columbus, O., Nov. 29.—John B. Thiergartner, 20, young inventor, was killed when he ran his motorcycle into the rear of a streetcar. The young rider was going at great speed. His head was crushed beyond recognition. He died on the way to Mt. Carmel hospital.

NOTED DYNAMITERS VISITED THIS CITY

Were Driven in Auto From Greenfield and Driver Is Summoned as U. S. Witness—Three of the Men Looked Over Local Buildings in Course of Erection.

With the summoning of Mr. Ora Upp, of Greenfield, to Indianapolis as a United States witness to testify in the famous dynamiting trial, it has come to light that three of the alleged dynamiters visited this city apparently in search of some structure to dynamite, but undoubtedly did not find what they were searching for, or else were placed under arrest before they had time to carry out their nefarious work.

Last May three strangers dropped into Greenfield and engaged Mr. Upp to take them by auto to this and other surrounding towns. The first place visited was this city, and when they reached here two of the men alighted from the machine and after walking about the town for some time and looking over the various buildings in course of construction, they returned to the auto and were driven to Williamsport, where they again alighted from the machine and walked about the town, taking observations of the town and buildings, talking with no one.

From Williamsport they were driven to Chillicothe. Mr. Upp taking dinner at the Warren House, the men dining elsewhere. About one o'clock they left for the Highland county caves, reaching there about 2 o'clock. They remained there until about 6 o'clock in the evening, when they returned to Greenfield. After arriving there they inquired as to what time they could catch a train for Indianapolis. They left on No. 55 that evening.

No doubt the government has learned through its investigations that they were driven over the country by Mr. Upp and has subpoenaed him to corroborate that part of the evidence in the chain that is being woven around them on trial.

What their object was in visiting this city no one knows.

5,000,000 Fish Eggs Are Planted

Last week 5,000,000 fish eggs were placed in the state hatchery at Put-In-Bay by the state game and fish commission. The eggs were of white fish and herring, which are known as commercial fish. When these are hatched and the fish have grown to sufficient size, they will be placed in Lake Erie.

Officials of the commission also are busy now at the hatcheries at Chagrin Falls and London. At these places only game fish are reared, such as bass, catfish, sunfish and salmon. The fish raised at these places in winter will be shipped to various places in rivers, lakes and streams.

The importance of keeping a river well stocked with fish dawned upon the officials of many counties and last year the commission was swamped with requests. At one time last spring 35,000 fish were placed in the Muskingum and Licking rivers at Zanesville. Several millions of fish were placed in other rivers in the state during the year.

An effort will be made next year, it is claimed, to have one or more of the Fayette county streams stocked with fish from the State Hatcheries, as the streams have been almost depleted during recent years.

YOUNGSTER SHOOTS COMPANION IN EYE

Richard Waters, Aged 10, Loses Left Eye and Narrowly Escapes With Life When Robert Maag Pulls Trigger of Rifle While Hunting East of Town, Yesterday Afternoon.

Richard Waters, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Waters, residing on Washington avenue, had a very narrow escape from instant death Thursday afternoon, but lost the right eye when Robert Maag, a lad about ten years old and residing on Elm street, shot him with a 22 caliber rifle.

The Waters lad left his home in the afternoon and wandered off with some boys about his own age, among whom was the Maag boy, who carried a rifle, and the shooting occurred in the Taylor woods east of town.

According to a statement given out by a member of the Waters family, the shooting was done intentionally, and without any cause whatever. It is claimed that the Maag lad became angry over something and threatened to shoot a dog owned by the Waters lad. "Don't you dare shoot that dog!" was the reply of the Waters lad. "Then I'll shoot you" are the words the Maag boy is alleged to have said, and with that he threw the gun to his shoulder and fired, the ball striking his victim just above the eye, and penetrating the eyeball.

The screams of the injured lad drew assistance to the spot, where it was seen that the eye had been destroyed. He was placed in an automobile and taken to the Hodson hospital where the eye was removed late Thursday evening. The sufferings of the boy were very great. It was evident the ball had dropped out after penetrating the eyeball.

The boy who did the shooting claims it was purely accidental and that he had no intention of shooting his companion, it is said. Up to the time this was written he had not been arrested.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Would Abolish Lobby.

Lebanon, O., Nov. 29. — Governor-elect James M. Cox, in an address delivered before the Business Men's club of this city, declared that the first week the legislature is in session he hopes to see enacted an anti-lobby law. He says this law should provide that every man who works for or against any measure should register and give the names of those by whom he is employed. He also declared for the enactment of other reform measures. The governor-elect said that he favors the abandonment of the present Ohio penitentiary.

Gift Organ a Hoodoo.

Steubenville, O., Nov. 29. — Two negroes drove into town with an organ in a wagon and deposited it in the street. It was the same organ which it is said was given to a negro church for the male members' support in the recent election. Before they left one of the negroes said: "We don't want this organ, because it has been a rank hoodoo and our church has done no good since it was put in."

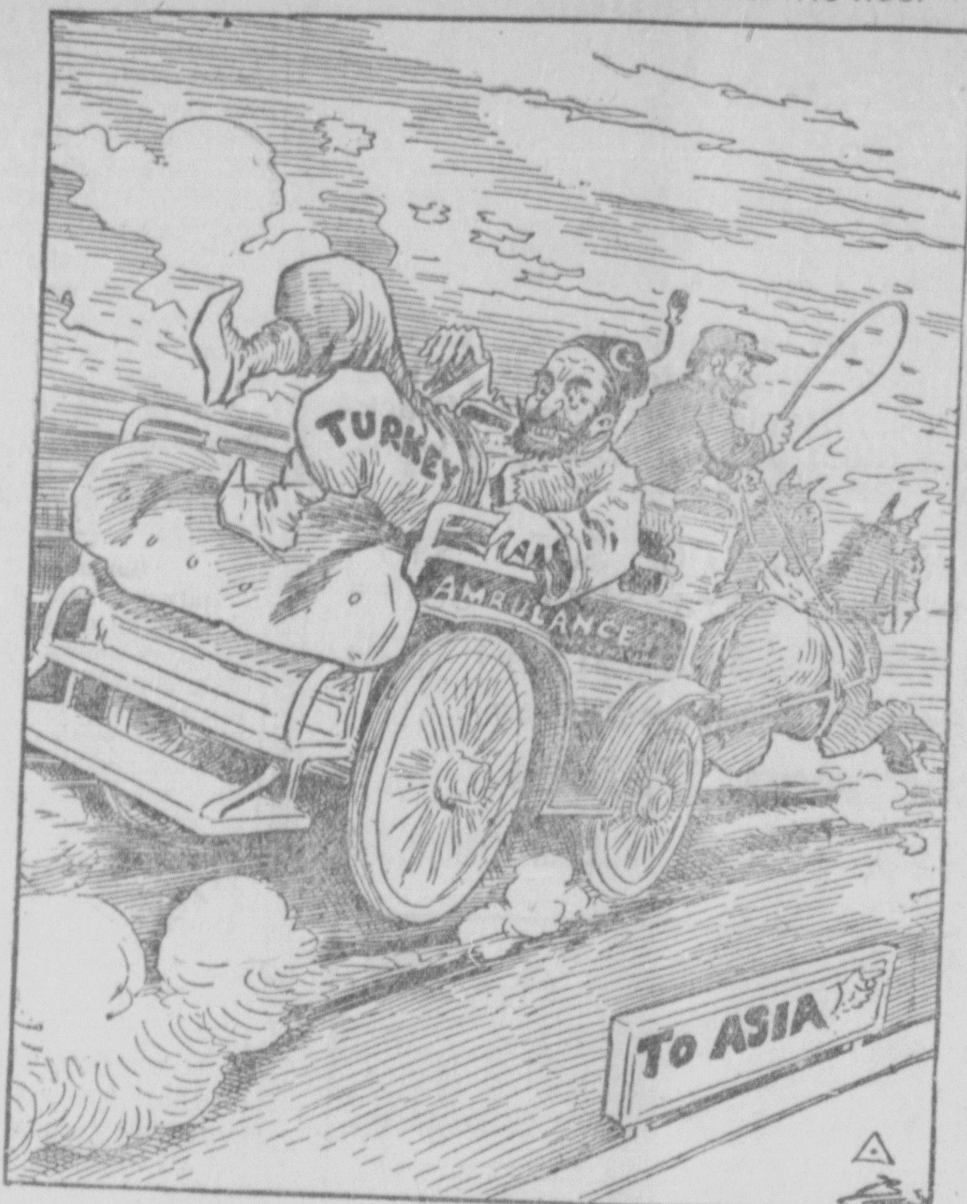

Collateral Inheritance Tax.

Columbus, O., Nov. 29. — According to statistics compiled by George A. Edge of the state treasury, there has been paid into the treasury during the last year as the state's share of collateral inheritance taxes, collected by the counties, a total of $80,881.59. This is almost twice that collected in any of the four previous years in which the tax has been effective.

SUFFRAGETS SUSPECTED

Wholesale Attack Made in London on Postal Pillar Boxes.

London, Nov. 29. — There was a wholesale attack on the postal pillar boxes in the city and the west end of London, supposedly by suffragets. The destruction had evidently been carefully organized and was skillfully and secretly carried out. Thousands of documents were either entirely destroyed or their addresses and contents made indecipherable. The method used was the pouring in the boxes of acid, black ink and paint.

Tinker Deal Called Off.

New York, Nov. 29. — About the angriest man in town was August Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati baseball club. Herrmann, who has been trying to clinch a deal for the services of Joe Tinker of the Chicago Cubs to manage the Reds next year, declared before he left here for Indianapolis to attend the funeral of John T. Brush that Charles Webb Murphy, owner of the Cubs, had broken faith with him. As a result the Tinker deal was called off.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 29. — Edward Kohl, a general merchant of North Randall, O., a suburb of Cleveland, gave the jury in the dynamiting cases a detailed account of the destruction of the bridge that spanned the Erie railroad at that place and pointed out George Anderson, business agent of the Cleveland local, as the man whom he met coming away from the scene of the explosion.

Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

ABROGATES CONSTITUTION

Turkish Cabinet Decrees Four Years' Test Has Proved a Failure.

Constantinople, Nov. 29. — It is learned from an authoritative source that the Turkish cabinet has passed a resolution declaring that "inasmuch as four years' test has proved that constitutional government is neither suitable nor effective in the case of the Ottoman empire, the government, in the highest interests of the empire, has decided on the abrogation of the constitution."

A state council containing a number of Christian members will be invested with a portion of the legislative powers of parliament. The government, however, will not be responsible to the state council. The announcement of the imperial irade enforcing this resolution is imminent.
